PLANT SUBSTRATES

Complete plant substrate containing all required nutrients for lush, long-term plant growth and available in a range of colours and granule sizes.

WETLAND

Wetlands is our brand-new concept of plant substrates.

A substrate is the natural environment surface on which an organism such as a plant, fungus, or animal live.

Our Wetland series are designed to provide 4 important functions:

1. As a medium for plant growth
2. As a means of water storage, supply, and purification
3. As a conditioner of the surrounding ecosystem
4. As a habitat for organisms, flora and fauna.

Therefore, Wetland series act as an engineering substrate medium: a habitat for substrates organisms, a recycling system for nutrients and organic wastes, a regulator of water quality, a modifier of ecosystem composition, and a medium for plant growth, and a support for fauna, making it a critically important for the success of any ecosystem display.

Advantages:

- Optimal natural substrate ready-to-use for flora and fauna.
- Design to deliver top performance in long-term planted displays.
- Ultra-rich substrate for plants with the complete nutrient supply of macro and microelements.
- Extremely rich in Potassium, Iron, Humic and Fulvic acids.
- Bio-filtering function for enhanced microbial colonization.
- It doesn't crumble in the long run.
- The active substrate lowers and buffers the pH.
- Clearwater, no discolouring effect.
- Natural binding of harmful substances.
- Extreme long-term use +10 years.

Please, follow our recommendations to enjoy our wetlands:

- Ready to use substrate, do not rinse.
- Spread the substrate evenly in a tank.
- Wet the substrate and proceed with the planting.
- Fine-grain version can be added on top of the normal grain version for optimal easy planting of small foreground plants.
- Pour water gently on top of a hard surface to avoid upsetting the planted substrate.
- During the initial setup period, the aquarium water may turn cloudy.
- Turn on the filter and cloudiness should disappear in a few hours.
